DEMAND ADVANCE IN COTTON

Four States Hit By Gangs—
Plants Are Burned

ATLANTA, Ga. — (By Associated Press) — The shooting to death Monday of a negro guard at a cotton gin in Arkansas, numerous fires of undetermined origin in which cotton has been destroyed and widespread threats of night riders to burn gins, whose owners ignore warnings to discontinue operations until the staple reaches a price of 40 cents a pound, have resulted in the issuance of proclamations by Governors Brough, of Arkansas, and Kilby of Alabama, and statements of their position by Governor Dorsey of Georgia and Cooper of South Carolina.

Governor Brough, upon being advised Monday night of the shooting of a negro guard in Lenoire county, issued a proclamation citing the killing and "lawlessness in some of our counties growing out of the prevailing low price of cotton."

Governors Appeal

The governor called on the state adjutant general and sheriffs of counties where there are likely to be disturbances, to use all power at their command to "suppress these night riding outrages." Posts of the American Legion also were urged to co-operate with the authorities.

The killing of Canada until late Monday night had been regarded by the authorities as a possible outrage. The night riding activities of the negroes, it is said to have received a warning to close at. Two negroes have been arrested and charged with the killing, however, and one of them is said to have confessed that the motive was robbery, refusing to admit that the shooting was an act of night riding.

REWARD OFFERED

In a proclamation citing the burning of gins and gin houses in Arkansas, Governor Kilby has offered a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of the destruction of property.

"This character of lawlessness deliberately violates one of the fundamental purposes for which government is established and threatens to substitute for orderly government a reign of terror and violence," the governor declared.

Governor Cooper in a communication to J. W. Harris, solicitor of the tenth judicial circuit of South Carolina, deplored the acts of "anarchy" and gave assurance that should any situation develop which would require extra effort on the part of the state he would not hesitate to order it.

EXPERTS FINISH PEACE PACT

Treaty Ready for Poles and Russians to Sign

RIGA — (By Associated Press) — Experts were engaged Tuesday in completing the Ukrainian text of the armistice and preliminary peace treaty between Poland and Russia and Ukraine. Completion of this work was the last preliminary to the signature of the convention, which was framed after 20 days of negotiation.

Many complications have arisen while the peace delegations have been deliberating on the terms of the preliminary treaty. Polish and Lithuanian troops have been fighting along the frontier between those two countries, there has been a general upsetting of stable conditions in the Baltic states, and many members of the big Polish delegation have been striving to prevent M. Dombbski, chairman of the delegation, and the Polish peasant party from strengthening their position in Warsaw.

Both Adolf Joffe, head of the Russian soviet peace mission and M. Dombbski express satisfaction with the terms agreed upon.

The bolsheviks last the preliminary treaty is much less favorable than the peace officered Poland last February, and the failure of the Poles to have a financial settlement included in the preliminary convention has been generally regarded as a soviet triumph.

BURIES BODIES IN CREEK

Surrenders and Admits His Crime to Sheriff

LANSING, Mich. — (By Associated Press) — Earl Roop, a farmer living near here, Tuesday confessed, according to Sheriff Shilb, that late Monday he chloroformed his two daughters, aged two and three years, and buried their bodies in the bed of the Red Creek river, a short distance from his home.

The two girls, the sheriff said, had been in the fields with Roop. In the evening the farmer returned to his home and argued his wife who was ill and in bed with a six-day old son, that the girls were safe and would be home shortly.

A few hours later he started for the sheriff's office at Mason, where he surrendered and made his alleged confession.

After Roop had told his story Sheriff Shilb's officers went to the river, led by Roop, and uncovered the bodies.

Dependence, according to the alleged confession, was the motive for the crime. Roop is being held on a charge of murder.

The two children, girls, two and three years of age, were murdered while in a field with their father where he was working, according to the sheriff.

Roop, in his confession, the sheriff said, told how after killing the children, he buried their bodies in the creek and later of Red Cedar river. When he returned home, he told his wife the children were safe, gave his wife some money and then walked to Lansing where he surrendered to the sheriff two hours later.

Sheriff Shilb's first doubt of the man's story came when the officers to the spot where he said he had buried the bodies. The sheriff dug up the bodies.

Roop according to the sheriff, said he was despondent and worried a great deal over the sickness in the family and the amount of care and attention which the children needed. He is 31 years of age.

Mrs. Roop was near death from the shock and upon her recovery bludgeoned the life of the newly born baby, physicians said.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — (By Associated Press) — Efforts of radical farmers' organizations to control prices by creating co-operative associations were scored at Monday's session of the Grain Dealers National association in the report of the legislative committee.

The report adds the radical organizations were seeking to disregard the laws of world supply and demand. It urged an active campaign to combat unrest among farmers and promotion of a fair recognition of the dignity and importance of agriculture as a "care for such unrest."

PRISONERS SLAIN BY PRETTY GIRL

Letish Beauty Chief Executioner
for Bolsheviks

FATE DECIDED BY LOTTERY

Men Are Led Out and Shot by Young Woman

PARIS — (By United Press.) — A beautiful maniac is chief executioner for the Bolsheviks, according to French prisoners returning here Tuesday.

The girl, described as a Letish beauty, with raven tresses and burning black eyes, kills her victims with a revolver, shooting them in the back of the head. The brown axman of medieval days has yielded to a slim girl with unnerving aim and a lust for blood.

PLAYGROUND FOR VERMIN

The French prisoners were repatriated after having spent a term in Butirki prison, Moscow. That institution is filled with 3,000 men from all ranks—frock coated statesmen and smoked workmen, robed priests, uniformed officers, nobles and bourgeois. All were herded into dirty cells which made a playground for vermin. No attempt was made to keep the prison clean, the men said, and even ordinary precautions for the removal of filth were neglected, due in part to the absence of all skilled workmen at the front. Disease gained easy entrance, they said.

DEATH LOTS DRAWN

Prisoners, they asserted, were executed without trials. Their fate was decided by lottery. Frequently they were sent about a big room, where the fatal number was led out to stand with face to the wall until the beautiful executioner and her revolver had finished their work.

The Frenchmen gave a thrilling description of this lottery, which is conducted while large groups of prisoners stand about a big room, red guards with fixed bayonets, forming a cordon about the walls. The tension increases until one of the prisoners draws the number, then it snaps and screams and cries mark the "let-down." Some prisoners, however, they said, had been known to get the death ticket, preferring a shot to further imprisonment.

When the victim is taken into the courtyard, the Frenchman said, the girl is brought out to do her work. They described her as "a raving maniac," about 15 years old.

Mr. Simms, while admitting that he had sent his resignation to Attorney General Palmer at Washington, declined to discuss the case when seen at his home in Lafayette, Indiana. DIGGERS HUNT FOR BABY'S BODY

Ground Spaded in Search for Blakely Coughlin's Remains

NO TRACE HOWEVER, FOUND

Work Started as Result of Pasquale's Confession

EGG HARBOR, N. J. — (By United Press) — Spade work in spots here and there near this village Tuesday marked the trail of the searchers for the body of Baby Blakely Coughlin, hastily buried four months ago by his kidnaper, August Pasquale.

A grim little searching party hunted for hours around the place where Pasquale, according to his statement to Major Lynn G. Adams, placed the infant's body, after he had accidentally smothered it by buttoning it under his coat, while he fled from the Coughlin home at Norristown, Pa.

FATHER PRESENT

George H. Coughlin, father of the baby was the grimest of all the grim group. Stern and with a stern expression, he stood close by while members of the Pennsylvania state constabulary, under direction of Captain Coughlin, spaded up the earth. They hunted all around a shack once occupied by Pasquale and also dug at various places in the bungalow colony, now deserted by the summer cottagers — but without coming across a trace of the little victim.

The searchers were handicapped by the fact that Pasquale's directions as given to Captain Adams, were rather vague. When they left the scene, they planned to resume the hunt after getting better directions. There was a possibility that Pasquale might be brought from the jail at Norristown to point out the spot where he buried the child.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — (By Associated Press) — Investigation of the latest confession of August Pasquale, the "crank," in which he is alleged to have told Major Lynn G. Adams, head of the state police, that he accidentally smothered Baby Blakely Coughlin while stealing the baby from the home of its parents in Norristown last June, was continued Tuesday. Pasquale, according to Major Adams, said that when he lifted the child from its crib it started to cry and that he placed it under his coat, which he buttoned tightly. After making his escape and running some distance he unbuttoned the coat and found the child dead.

Search of the woods and swamps around Egg Harbor and New Gretna, N. J., yesterday failed to reveal any trace of the child's body. It was in the neighborhood of Egg Harbor that Pasquale purchased a small farm shortly after he succeeded in obtaining $12,000 from George H. Coughlin, the missing child's father, on the promise to return the boy and it also was there that he was finally captured when he attempted to get an additional $10,000 ransom.

The authorities stated Tuesday the investigation would be continued, but declined to say what their next move would be.

Because of the many false clues, Pasquale is said to have given those working on the case since he confessed the kidnapping, neither the Norristown police nor the Coughlins place much credence in his latest story.

COX GIVEN NOISY GREETINGS

Addreses Enthusiastic Meetings
at St. Louis and in Illinois

PEORIA, Ill. — (By Associated Press) — Governor Cox, of Ohio, Tuesday returned to Illinois following one of the most enthusiastic meetings of his campaign Monday night at St. Louis, to carry on his fight for the league of nations and other party policies. SPEAKERS RIDDLE Foe ARGUMENT

Facts About League of Nations Are Presented

POMERENE PLAYS CRITICS

Julian and Goeke Speak at Spencerville and Delphos

Holding the rapt attention of his auditors for more than an hour at Memorial Hall Monday evening, United States Senator Alton Pomerene addressed an assembly of more than a thousand voters, men and women, confining his address to an explanation of the covenant of the League of Nations and he did so in a manner that it is believed every person who heard his indisputable statements presented in matchless oratory, went away from the place of assembly convinced of the logic of his argument.

No one could believe otherwise than that the Senator's argument was unanswerable and that his statements were founded wholly on facts, save only those who are blinded by political bias and prejudice and who refuse to admit the truth even when in their hearts they are convinced that they are wrong.

THREE SPEAKERS
Congressman E. F. Welby was the chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers, Senator Pomerene, Hon. J. H. Goeke and Hon. W. A. Julian, candidate for United States Senator, L. E. Ludwig, president of the Allen-co Fox club, and County Chairman Lehr E. Miller were also on the platform.

"We cannot as an honorable nation keep out of the League," Senator Pomerene said. "By going into it we do not cede our sovereignty as our Republican friends would have you believe, but rather we exercise our sovereignty by so doing. We cannot live unto ourselves alone any more than one person can live independent of his neighbors. The people of America should, and I believe they will, not let the League of Nations become a partisan issue."

In a scholarly manner, with his thought couched in the most simple language so that all who heard might understand, the Senator riddled the Republican partisan objections to the League and the silly arguments they are advancing against it. Quoting from an authority, such as Tati and in legal phrase, the speaker did not leave them a leg to stand on.

Senator Pomerene made an appeal for support by the voters for Congressman Welby and W. A. Julian in United States Senator, as they were asked for the ratification of the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations. He also made an appeal for the election of A. V. Donahay as Governor. Senator Pomerene's telling and unanswerable arguments excited the highest enthusiasm in his auditors and his references to President Wilson, Governor Cox and the Donahay were applauded and cheered in a most vigorous manner.

MR. GOEKE SPEAKS
Hon. J. H. Goeke, former congressman and well known attorney of this city, in a brief address pointed out to his hearers what would be the result of a League of Nations. He would probably mean the destruction of our country as we have been and still are enjoying and to all their cheering the Republicans cannot point to a single progressive act the Democratic administration has enacted that they would strike off the statute books.

"We are going to give them a change," Mr. Goeke said. "We are going to give them for President Wilson, who is the greatest president this country has ever had, our own Ohioan, James M. Cox."

Mr. Goeke dealt with the business side of the necessity of a continuance of Democratic administration, for the progress and well being of this country. He evoked applause and cheers as he pointed facts concerning the results of progressive legislation enacted by Democrats.

"If there ever was a time that we can stand up and say that we are proud we are Democrats, that time is now," Mr. Goeke said. "We are proud of our party's accomplishments. Why, to hear some of the Republicans talk, you'd think we had lost the war. We fought the war as Americans, not as partisans. The Republicans helped. Those who were not in favor of the war were against the Democratic party because we went into it. Senator Pomerene is just as responsible as is Woodrow Wilson or any other for America deciding to enter the war. Senator Harding voted for war."

FOURTH TO ENTER WAR
Under Democratic administration, the business of war was conducted in such a manner that after the Republican Senate expended millions of dollars in investigations they failed to find a single Democrat guilty of anything wrong in the conduct of that war. President Wilson kept a lot of the war as long as it was humanly possible to do so. The German traitor and his military advisers forced America to enter the war. We could no longer stay out and preserve our national honor. Woodrow Wilson, with his pen, separated the German people from the war and drew that had plunged their country into the horrors of bloodshed, the result required as the scales fell from the eyes of the German people and to save his life their ruler became a fugitive from his own land and he hasn't returned.

"Factories have been shut down for political purposes, but the capitalists of finance cannot bring on a panic as they would like to. The Federal reserve law prevents that. Prosperity is here. We cannot and will not go back to the old order of things unless they succeed in destroying the Federal reserve law. Our prosperity has been so great that even the tramps have become content."

IF YOU WANT TO COURT THE DANGER OF GOING BACK TO LOW WAGES, LOW PRICED LAND, LOW PRICED WHEN AND OTHER GRAINS AND COMMODITIES, THEN VOTE THE REPUBLICAN TICKET. In this campaign the Republicans have no issue save an attempt to discredit the President.

JULIAN'S REMARKS
W. A. Julian, the candidate for United States Senator, who had been heard in Lima, at Memorial Hall, on a previous occasion, spoke briefly, stating that if elected he would vote to enter the League. His opponent has said that he will vote against going in. So the issue is clearly drawn. Mr. Julian is a business man, successful in every respect and would bring to the United States Senate a hard headed business counsel that it at times sorely needs. He has traveled in all foreign countries and knows their people and politics. He gave some inside facts concerning the wonderful possibilities for America in Europe, but explained that it must be developed.

During the afternoon, at Spencerville, where State Senator T. M. Berry presided, a rousing meeting was held at the Armory, attended by 500 people. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. Julian and Goeke and W. W. Durbin gave the people assembly some very pertinent facts concerning the career of Harry L. Davis, Republican gubernatorial nominee, which do not size up well along with the splendid record of accomplishment of A. V. Donahay, the Democratic Delphosite.

DONAHAY ILL
Owing to an attack of acute stomach trouble which forced him to take to his bed on Sunday, Vic Donahay was unable to fill his speaking engagements Monday, and Senator Pomerene was sent to Lima in his stead.

W. A. Julian and Congressman Welby addressed a large audience at St. Mary's, with Editor John L. Sullivan as the chairman. Mr. Julian was introduced to assembly in New Bremen, Minister New Knoxville and Griderville in Auglaize-co by County Chairman Otto Doesel and was met at Griderville by Allen-co Chairman Lehr Miller, Hon. J. H. Goeke, E. W. Durbin, C. R. Phillips, J. Clem, Guy Custer and James Burba.

HOW HARDING HAS CHANGED VIEW ON LEAGUE

The travel of Senator Harding's mind on the League of Nations issue is an interesting study. In the Senate he supported some of the amendments of the mild reservationists, then the Lodge reservations, and finally the Knox resolutions for a separate peace. The following quotations reveal his development to his present position since he was nominated:

Marion, July 22 (Speech of Acceptance)—I can speak unreservedly of the American aspiration and the Republican commitment for an association of nations co-operating in sublime accord to attain and preserve peace thru justice rather than force.

Marion, Aug. 28.—It is not uncommon for the advocates of the League of Versailles to contrast unfavorably The League upon the ground that the tribunal "lacks teeth." Very well; then let's put teeth into it.

Same speech—If the League has been so entwined and interwoven into the peace of Europe that its good must be preserved in order to stabilize the peace of that Continent, then it may be amended or revised.

Marion, Sept. 5 (Statement to the Press.)—Undoubtedly there is much that is good in the covenant of Versailles. I have no desire to fling that aside.

Marion, Sept. 6.—We are all agreed now that amendment or revision or reconstruction is possible and vastly better than reservations.

Marion, Sept. 21.—If I can have my way we will never enter a fraternity that is founded on force.

Baltimore, Sept. 27.—I am without a single programme constructive in character about an association of nations. The first thing I will do is to try to find a plan for an association of nations behind which all Americans will stand.

Des Moines, Oct. 7.—I do not want to clarify those obligations. I want to turn my back on them. It is not interpretation but rejection that I am seeking.

Marion, Oct. 11.—America must play its part in aiding the formation of an association of nations that will discourage or fend to prevent war and that will encourage or tend to encourage a better understanding.

TELL WHAT WOMEN LOVE

With only one more day's time in which to enter the "What Do Women Love" contest, being conducted by The Lima News and for which $25 in cash prizes will be awarded, interest in the outcome is widespread. Scores of answers have reached the Contest Editor and each mail brings additional ones.

The prizes will be divided as follows: First prize, $10.00, second prize, $5.00, third prize, $3.00, fourth prize, $2.00, next five prizes, $1.00 each.

"What Women Love," the photography featuring Annette Kollerman, will open on Wednesday at the Regent theatre.

Answers to the question "what do women love" are greatly varied. Most of them hold that a woman loves to be loved, others say that women love more than anything else, a home and children, while still others take the stand that clothes and good times are all that some women love.

Below are quoted a few of the answers received today. These are not winners, but are chosen from the entire number merely as samples, and will have an equal chance to the $25 in prizes when the awards are made.

"What Do Women Love?" My answer is this: Women love fine clothes and pleasure.

Mrs. C. C. Bathelt, 551 E. 2nd-st., Lima, O.

"I believe above all that women love to make the home attractive for the husband and have him show his appreciation for the many little things she does to try and make him happy."

Mrs. W. R. Green, 334 S. Pine-st.

In answer to your "What do women love" contest, I would say that women love LOVE most of all.

Mrs. Lulu Loomis, 551 S. Elizabeth-st.

TOWN HIRES WOMAN TO BECOME CHURCH PASTOR

LENOX, Mass. — Ordination of Miss Charlotte Brown as pastor of the Congregational church of New Boston has solved the "pastor problem" in that isolated Berkshire town. For several years the town had been able to hold a preacher only a few months. The best salary that could be paid was not big enough to attract married men. Single men came along in procession, fell in love with New Boston girls and hurried off to larger places and larger incomes. But Miss Brown will preach "where ministers won't stay."

Miss Brown is a native of Otis. She was graduated twelve years ago from the Hartford School of Religious Pedagogy and for nine years has been director of religious education for the Lake Avenue Baptist church, of Rochester, N. Y.

When it was suggested to one of the older members of the New Boston congregation that there is no law against a woman pastor taking a husband, the veteran said:

"We realize that, but we figure that if one of our young men marries the preacher she'll be all the more likely to settle down with us."

REBELS UNLUCKY IN MEXICO

Few Bandits Find Hard Sledding
Since Villa Quit

MEXICO CITY—The few rebel leaders remaining in the field are having a hard time, due to the activity of the Mexican Army in hunting them down and the weariness of the Mexican people of revolutions.

It is now reported that General Manuel Pineda, who has been at the head of a revolutionary force in Chihuahua for some time, wants to come to terms with the new government. It is reported that his force, which was never large, is rapidly dwindling and that he is in danger of being left to fight his revolution alone.

Pedro Zamora who was in revolt in Jalisco, is said to be fighting in the mountains with only a few followers, his forces have been defeated and scattered by the troops sent in pursuit of him.

When Zamora took the field he kidnapped Charles Hoyle and W. A. Gardner, two Americans and A. Joanson, an Englishman, expecting to fill his war chest by collecting ransom for the liberation of his captives. Hoyle was released to go to $100,000 pesos or $50,000, and was at Guadalajara when Mexican troops recently scattered Zamora's band.

Reports received here state that Gardner and Joanson escaped when Zamora was driving into the mountains and are safe but it is not known where they are at present. Whatever fate it is believed improbable that Zamora would burden himself with the two prisoners in his flight.

General Rodolfo Henierro is said to be making no headway with his revolution in Hidalgo. Reports from that State are that his force is too small for him to venture forth from the desert in which he is encamped.

Villa is on the farm given to him by the Government. He is getting together much farming machinery as though with the determination of setting down to a quiet pastoral life, but is heard from frequently. His latest communication tells of an undying hatred of Americans of whom he has killed many.

ARTICLE SIXTEEN

"Should any member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenants under Article 12, 13, or 15, it shall ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the League, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nations and the nations of the covenant-breaking state and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nations of the covenant-breaking state and the nations of any other state, whether a member of the League or not."

"It shall be the duty of the Council in such case to recommend to the several governments concerned what effective military or naval forces the members of the League shall severally contribute to the armaments of forces to be used to protect the covenants of the League."

"The members of the League agree, further, that they will mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures which are taken under this Article, in order to minimize the loss and inconvenience resulting from the above measures and that they will mutually support one another in resisting any special measures aimed at one of their number by a covenant-breaking state and that they will take the necessary steps to afford passage thru their territory to the forces of any of the members of the League which are co-operating to protect the covenants of the League."

"Any member of the League which has violated any covenant of the League may be declared to be no longer a member of the League by a vote of the Council concurred in by the representatives of all the other members of the League represented therein."

EXPLANATION
Is there any threatened danger in Article 16 for any nation that proposes to and does keep its obligations? If so, it does not appear in the Article.

In event that a nation, a member of the League, becomes recalcitrant and refuses to keep its pledges, or runs amuck, it does not mean that war is resorted to at once. If the offending party refuses to come to its senses and submit its grievances to the League for arbitration, then an international boycott is levied and there is no nation on earth that can long survive a boycott by other nations.

If that fails, it does not mean that our boys will be thrown into war. The members of the League merely advise and recommend to each country the part it should play in bringing the erring nation to its senses. Not one of our boys can be sent anywhere without authority from Congress, so that is the only body in this country that can declare war on behalf of the United States.

The nation which violated the covenant would be completely cut off from every other nation in the world. It could not borrow money, buy arms or munitions or fuel or food or clothing; no ship could enter or leave its ports; no person could enter or leave its territory; it could neither send nor receive letters or telegrams beyond its borders. It cannot be said too plainly that also we assume certain obligations by joining the League, the "when" and "how" of those obligations are under the League just as they are now) up to congress to determine. The United States could hold out the longest against a boycott laid by more than 40 of the other civilized nations of the earth, but she could not go on forever. What nation do you believe would care to have such an experience? Does it look at all likely there would be any great danger of war under the League of Nations? It's next to impossible.

KU KLUX KLAN IN SOUTH GROWS

Revived With the Same Emblem and Same Insignia

COL. SIMMONS IS FOUNDER

Members Take Oath of Allegiance Near City of Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. — The Ku Klux Klan, famous during the dark days of reconstruction in the South, has, with renewed vigor, rapidly spread throughout the South and other parts of the United States during the past year until it now has a membership of tens of thousands and organizations in almost every corner of the South.

Colonel William J. Simmons, professor of Southern history at Luther University, in Atlanta, is the founder of the rejuvenated Ku Klux Klan, the construction of which he has been planning for many years. In 1915, with 34 of his friends among whom were three members of the original Ku Klux Klan, the Klan received a State charter.

The petition was accepted and on Thanksgiving night in 1915 the organizers of the Klan assembled on top of the giant granite boulder known as Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, and there at midnight, under a blazing fiery cross, the symbol of the old Klan, they took the oath of allegiance to the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Since the Klan had among its charter members three of the original members of the old Ku Klux Klan it was granted all the legal rights and privileges enjoyed by the original organization, with rights to all its paraphernalia, symbols, insignia, etc., and each year celebrates its anniversary on May 6, the date on which the old Klan was founded.

While it was designed to honor the memory of an organization whose operations were confined to the South and to perpetuate the principles upon which that organization was founded, the modern Knights of the Ku Klux Klan is not a sectional institution for, according to its founders, it must at least have the sanction, if not the active support of all white, native-born American citizens who love their country and their flag and believe in the preservation of its institutions and ideals.

Organization is needed. "While conditions today are not the same as they were when the original Klan was organized," says Colonel Simmons, the need for an organization like the Ku Klux Klan is just as pressing now as it ever was, but along different lines.

"Its purpose is to inculcate the sacred principles and noble ideals of chivalry, the development of character, the protection of the home and the chastity of womanhood, the exemplification of a pure patriotism toward our glorious country, the preservation of American ideals and the maintenance of white supremacy, and a vital, perpetual memorial to the men who served so valiantly in the ranks of the original Klan. "No man is wanted in this order who hasn't manhood enough to assume a real oath with serious purpose to keep the same inviolate. No man is wanted in this order who will not, or who cannot, swear an unqualified allegiance to the Government of the United States of America, its flag and its constitution.

"Only native-born American citizens who believe in the tenets of the Christian religion and owe no allegiance of any degree or nature to any foreign government, political institution, sect, people or persons are eligible for membership."

IN THIS CONNECTION Colonel Simmons took occasion to point out that the original Ku Klux Klan was not a band of bandits and cutthroats as foes of the South and enemies of the Southern people so frequently have charged—a band of murderers who stopped at nothing and who whipped and terrorized both white and black and wanted its spite on whoever incurred its displeasure.

"On the contrary," says Colonel Simmons, "the members of the Ku Klux Klan were men of the highest type as a body and they were working to safeguard life and property, to ameliorate the terrible conditions growing out of the presence of the negroes and their baneful influence over the negro. After the Ku Klux Klan was disbanded by General Nathan B. Forrest, who was its chief, bands of thugs and murderers began operating through the South under the name of the Ku Klux Klan. They had no organization and no legal standing, and it was the members of the original Klan who did more than any others to suppress the operations of these lawless characters."

An order has just been issued by the Superior Court against J. B. Frost and others of the Columbia Union declaring that the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan have the exclusive right to the symbol showing a masked and hooded horse upon the representation of Colonel Simmons, who is "Imperial Wizard" of the Klan that he had trademarked the symbol. Frost and others have formed a separate organization somewhat along the same lines as the Ku Klux Klan.

GERMAN POLITICS BEGIN TO BOIL

Changes in Government of Republic Are Threatened

BERLIN—Shifts within the German government are anticipated in the course of the coming Reichstag session.

While at this period a "government crisis" cannot be said to exist, nevertheless all signs point to an endeavor to draw in the majority socialists to share the burdens and responsibilities already resting on the shoulders of those in power.

The present rulers of Germany are showing little inclination to bear the responsibility of Spa and its consequences alone. And they manifest even less inclination to shoulder what they anticipate the Geneva meeting of the League of Nations will bring them.

The majority socialists just now are showing little inclination to enter. Leaders gathered here recently to discuss the question of entry into the government again, but the consensus of opinion was that the socialists did well to get out of the government and would do well to remain out of it.

Meantime, the Independent socialists are making fun of the majority socialists. But the situation politically in Germany has so altered that the opposition can no longer merely criticize. The situation is such that at any moment an opposition group may be called upon to show what its vaunted ability amounts to.

There exists a situation which may put to the test the strength of the socialistic parties—the question arising from the holding up of and searching of munitions transports. Workers of both the majority and Independent socialist parties established a so-called "Reichskontrollkommission" to watch over transports. This group issued orders and committed arbitrary acts. On the other hand, Gen. Groener, transport minister, established control commissions of his own, and forbade the operation of the workers' commission. His mandates were disobeyed.

As a result of this test of authority between the government and labor there have been a number of painful incidents. Particularly embarrassing for the government was the burning of munitions from a transport at Erfurt.

Careful observers believe that the purpose of the workers in connection with their independent control commission is to get the upper hand eventually in direction of the railways.

CENTRALIZED WELFARE WORK IS RECOMMENDED

Fifty Lima representative citizens attended a meeting at the Lima club at 6:30 Monday night to hear H. Wehrly of the Ohio council of social agencies explain the plan of centralizing all welfare agencies of the city.

The establishment of a council made up of two representatives of each welfare organization was recommended. One of these, according to Wehrly's explanation, should be a member of the board of directors of the organization and the other a paid worker. This council would employ a director, who should be well versed in public health, family welfare and other social problems. A second meeting has been called for next Monday night at 7:30 at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

We will give you positive assurance that to January 1st, there will be no reduction in Brunswick Phonographs. There was no inflation and there will be no deflation.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2. and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, find that it could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

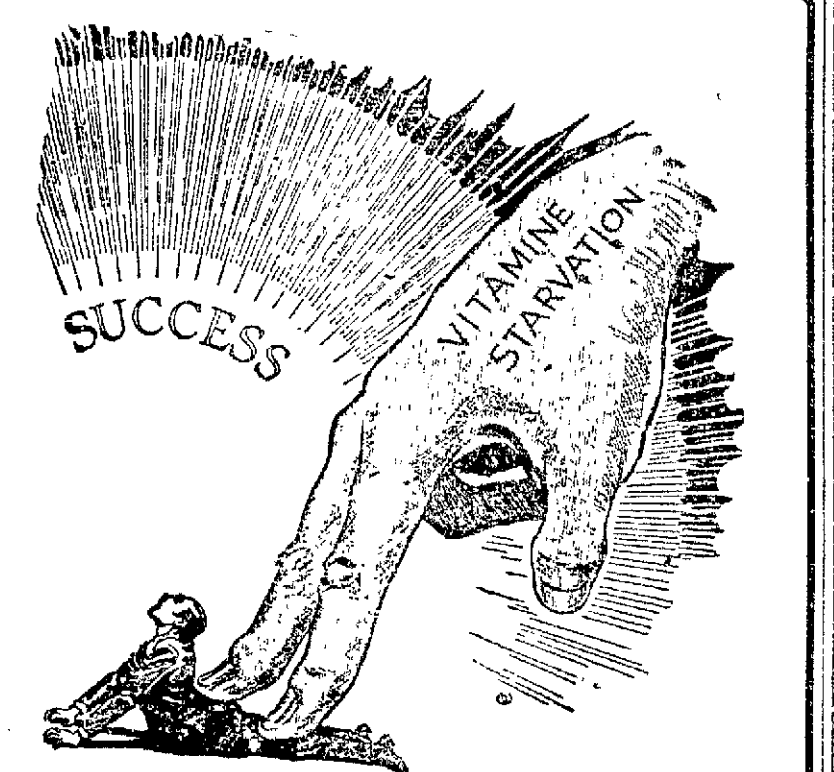

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for the same time it cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

EASY TO MAKE A SUCCESS IF YOU FEEL "TIP TOP"

Read Here How Many a Man Is Being Kept From Reaching the Success for Which He Longs—Just as the Artist Shows You In the Picture Above

After all is said and done, a man's earning capacity—the ability to make a good living, to get and hold a good job, to provide for a comfortable old age—usually depends far more on how much HEALTH AND ENERGY he has than on any other one thing.

Look around you. Who are the men holding the best jobs and making the best money? Aren't they practically always men in fine health—men bubbling over with vim and energy—men whose bodies are never a drag on their minds—men who can put in long hours without tiring—men who have that "LAST ALL DAY" and "GREAT THINGS DONE" kind of power that no one can have unless 100% well?

Yet thousands of people are far from being up to the mark in either body or mind, simply because there is lost from most of the foods they eat every day those wondrous substances of Nature—the vitamins—which Science has found absolutely necessary to send through the body the steady streams of vital, blazing energy that can only come from 100 percent health. Their systems are weak and all run down simply because they are suffering from what the doctors call "VITAMINE STARVATION."

In the words of Dr. John J. Dolph, a former Health Commissioner, late of New York (Hos-1) State and a Graduate of the University of Baltimore: "It is to state that nine out of ten people in this country would probably be far better physically and mentally if they would get more of these life-giving vitamins into their systems. But not until the introduction of a tablet combining the concentrated vitamins with other health-building elements in the form known to druggists as Vitamon, was there any means as far as I can tell, by which the average person could derive anything like the benefits which this place within their reach. So rapid, so pronounced and so amazing are the results I have seen produced by Vitamon, that no matter what anyone says, I do not believe there is anything whatsoever to which this discovery can be compared. Not until you have taken VITAMON yourself and watched its effects in your own case can you form any idea of the vast difference you may make in your health, strength, mental vigor and physical appearance. Vitamon may be taken with benefit by either men or women, at all seasons and surprising results are produced in many cases within a remarkably short space of time."

Note: In countless disorders associated with weakness, anemia, lack of energy, loss of weight, nervous troubles, sallow skin, and a general run-down condition, the astonishing health-building power of Vitamon has been clearly demonstrated by medical research of the world's most eminent authorities.

Not entirely satisfied with the results you are not convinced that it has been worth to you far more than the cost of your money and the trial will absolutely nothing. Vitamon may now be obtained in this city through druggists such as Myranda, Hunter's, Red Cross, Balderson, Inter-Pharm, Cunningham Drug.

MAN REFUSES TO PAY FINE

Wants to Keep Cash, Will Spend Time in Jail

With funds amounting to $10.39 held at the Lima police station, Robert Boyd, registered from Akron, declared he would rather remain in the city prison at 60 cents a day until a $5 fine is paid, than pay cash and arrive in Akron with his car depleted to that extent.

Boyd was fined $5 by Judge Brummett Jackson in criminal court Monday morning after pleading guilty to a charge of train riding. He was arrested by Detective Rosen of the Erie railroad, when he arrived here Monday evening on Erie passenger train No. 1. He told the court he rode the "blind" from Chicago and was on his way to Akron.

After 18 hours in the city prison, Boyd was still firm in his determination not to part with any part of his funds for payment of a fine.

"Are you going to stay here at 60 cents a day until your fine is paid," he was asked Tuesday afternoon, "that's all I can do," he retort.

"I can't go to Akron 'cause I expect to find a job. I have been working in Chicago, but got laid off."

HE FEELS TEN YEARS YOUNGER

Any man or woman suffering from tummy back headache, stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatic pains or any other ailment of kidney or bladder trouble will be interested in this letter from Dr. J. J. "I could not bend down for some years, as I can now. My wife had many pains, but I got relief from Dr. J. J. I feel now as if I were ten years younger."

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when reclining; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

TIPS—AND PRESERVES
"I hate taking tips from people!" I declared one day as Mary and I were counting the week's return in that direction.
"Why?"
"I feel like a beggar."
"I don't see why. You never ask for them, you even act as if you left the table personally so they wouldn't give you anything."
"I know—but I would like to put up a sign, 'No tips received.'"
"Do you know what that would mean?"
"Why, just that we wouldn't take tips—wouldn't it?"
"Yes—and something else too. A whole lot of people would set us down as cheap, and wouldn't come. Then we would get a lot of light-wads who wouldn't spend anything to speak of and would fill our tables. Then, too, when we made our prices we considered the tips. If other places would not take tips we could cut them out, too, and I would be just as pleased as Punch to add a little to the prices, and let it go at that. But as long as others do take tips, we better not spring any surprise party on our customers."
"I guess perhaps you are right, Mary. But I hate it just the same."
And I did! I felt small and mean every time I took a tip, although I nearly always escaped from the table before it could be handed to me. I took good care, too, not to pick it up until the donor had left. I had agreed with Mary, but when we had become really established, I determined I would try the no-tip system and see if it wouldn't work.
The preserves came, three dozen small glasses. We gave Mrs. Fagin three of them, different fruits, and she said she never had tasted anything so good in all her life. They were perfectly delicious. We charged 25 cents a portion for them and made three portions out of each glass.
We told Mr. Pope and two or three of our regular customers we had them, and after they ordered them once we did not need to say any more about them.
"They'll blow the roof off talking about them preserves!" Mary told Mrs. Fagin. "I don't know what they will do when we can't give them any more. Mob the place, I guess."
"It all shows that if you give people what they pay for they are only too glad to patronize you. But if you take their money and don't give them what they think they ought to have, they get sore and go to some other place," Mrs. Fagin returned.
"Say, Zena," Mary turned to me, a light in her eyes. "Why can't we learn to make them preserves? Won't your Aunt Susan give us her recipe?"
"I guess so, but—"
"Now don't say we have too much to do. We haven't! There's money in them. You remember the letter she wrote, and said she didn't expect to get more'n 25 cents a glass for the one she so? We got 75 cents, I'll bet they'd trust more'n 15 cents

HARDING LOSES SUPPORT
SENATOR Harding has finally declared himself on the question of the League of Nations. In his Des Moines, Iowa, address, the situation had so framed itself that he could no longer dodge the issue. He was forced to do one of two things, take a stand unequivocally against an alliance with all the other civilized nations of the earth to prevent future wars, to hold the support of the senate irreconcilables headed by Johnson and Borah and thereby stay in the face every soldier who served in the world war and run counter to the wishes of the mothers of America, or turn down the irreconcilables and align himself according to the position of Taft, Hughes and others, in favor of the League with such reservations as will clarify it and make its meaning more clear if necessary.

Harding has cast his lot with Johnson and Borah. He is against America going into League. He has sown to the wind and is reaping the whirlwind. He is losing the support of thousands of men and women who would otherwise have voted for him in November. One of the many proofs of this fact comes from California, in the form of a telegram sent to Harding by Mrs. Fay Lyman Wilber, of the executive committee of the California Women's League for the Peace Treaty, informing the Republican Presidential nominee that his rejection of the League of Nations at Des Moines alienated the support of 30,000 women of California, who stand for immediate ratification of the League and Treaty.

Wobble-wobbling for months on the question of the League and Treaty, Harding said at Des Moines: "I do not want to clarify these obligations. I want to turn my back on them. It is not interpretation, but rejection, that I am seeking."

He has deliberately served notice on the mothers of American boys that he does not wish to adopt a means of preventing the necessity of the boys being called out again to participate in war. Out of the League, America must maintain a monster army and navy and be in constant danger of war. In it, that necessity and that danger is removed. Harding has taken his stand against the fathers and mothers and the boys of America.

A CANARD NAILED

TIME was, and not so very long ago, when it was the fashion to disparage the size of the pedal extremities of the young women of Chicago. So far did this ribald insinuation go that finally we were informed that not only a few of the fair maidens of the middle western metropolis had large feet, but they also had been bountifully supplied with "good understandings," and that whatever their pulchritude in other respects might be, this blemish could not be overlooked. Of late, however, the canard has been dying, and within the last week it appears that the young women there have given it the coup de grace.

This final blow to an allegation which, we have always firmly believed, was totally unfounded, comes from the action of the girls and women of the high schools and colleges of the Windy City. Rising as one against the high price of feminine footwear and the freakish styles which helped to keep prices on the upper shelf, they have started to wear boys' shoes and they advance good reasons for their decision. The shoes, they say, are comfortable and of long life and they are cheaper.

Among the old-fashioned school of psychologists, especially the kind who aided their meditations with a jackknife and a piece of pine board, it was a settled opinion that large feet were usually a sign of common sense. What connection there could be between a No.

10 and the gray matter under one's hat could never be determined, but that these oldsters were correct in their conclusions seemed to be made certain by the action of the femininity of Chicago. What they have done and are doing does not appear to be a fad or a scheme for publicity, but a hard-headed and definite attempt to cope with old man H. C. L. in a practical manner. Certainly the reasons advanced by the young women are unanswerable and if they have really found boys' footwear to be comfortable and cheap they are to be congratulated on possessing two of the human essentials—courage and sanity.

A BUSINESS MAN'S VIEW

EDWARD A. Filene, a prominent department store proprietor of Boston, and a Republican in politics, has just returned from a tour of Europe, tremendously impressed with the feeling that world-wide disaster will result from the failure of the League of Nations, and that the league will fail if the United States remains aloof. Interviewing statesmen and the plain people in France, Italy, Austria, Germany, Belgium, England and Czechoslovakia he found this to be the common feeling. Coming from a business man, and a Republican, there is surely something worth considering in such an opinion as this:

The situation between Germany and France is impossible and threatens the world. The wise Frenchmen say that if there were a league France would cease to fear Germany's recuperation. But they declare that no league can be effective without the co-operation of the United States. In this they are corroborated by the English, German and Czechoslovak leaders. A league without the United States, they say, can be only the old balance of powers with its proved inability to prevent war.

As an American, proud of my country, I am unapologetically sure that the masses of my countrymen do not understand this and how dangerous conditions have become. When we do understand we will know that we are in honor bound to co-operate with Europe. Unless we co-operate in Europe to see that every nation observes the treaty conditions and deals justly with its neighbors, production on an adequate scale will be impossible, and lack of sufficient production means disaster.

It is not a party question. It is a question of our duty and our honor. We Americans will keep the faith when we understand.

The easy answer to all this is that we are not concerned with what may happen in Europe, and that the collapse of industry, and governments over there cannot possibly affect us here. And like so many easy answers this will not stand the test of reason. An exporter knows how insufferably silly it is. And there are many thousands of American graves in France that reply mutely to the absurdity that we need never concern ourselves with what takes place across the sea.

MISS LIMA: "Maybe the printer meant to say 'catsup' when he set it up as 'catstep' being the new dance step."

Women's Questions Answered

Q. What has the Democratic party done for the welfare of women and children?
A. The Democratic party by its platform urges cooperation with the states for the protection of child life thru infancy and maternity care; in the prohibition of child labor and by adequate appropriations for the Children's Bureau and the Women's Bureau in the Department of Labor.
James M. Cox, as Governor of Ohio, in addition to many other measures in behalf of women and children, had enacted into law the workman's compensation measure which assures that the widow and children will receive compensation quickly and adequately should the husband and father meet death in line of employment, or provide for the care of the family in event the husband is injured.

THE FUNNY-HAT SEASON IS WITH US

The things that men wear on their heads between the straw-hat season and the winter-hat season passeth all understanding. No man in the world goes and buys a new winter hat as soon as he throws the straw away. He postpones the evil moment and rummages around in the attic and digs up some old fryin' pan that he threw away the preceding spring. Consequently the mob assumes a queer aspect. To a man in an airplane between hat seasons. Look him down, the aviator may well be, heve the world has gone barmy, for men wear things on their heads that are beyond belief. From the old fryin' Kelly that slides down over the face and conceals most of the important features, to the antiquated golf-cap which hangs dejectedly over one ear and gives on the appearance of a stick-up man, nothing is impossible.

A man may wear a fur cap in late September and nobody takes a second look. He may go to business in a sou'wester, a yarn cap or an old football helmet and everybody thinks it is the natural thing to do. Even a red velvet smoking cap with a tassel on it is not sufficient to cause a man's arrest.

But if there is an old fedora around the house that the wife has used to lift the pots and kettles or to polish the stove with, or one that the house have been laying in all summer, that is what the average citizen loves best to wear between seasons.

If he can have this hat blow or and induce some horse to step on it, he is happier than ever.

Men like old hats best, and there are two reasons for this. One is that he likes to set an example in hat economy around home and the other is that he would rather go to a dentist and have five teeth pulled than to pick out one fall hat he believes every hat he picks makes him look like an escaped guest of Matthewman trying to sell a perpetual motion machine. Generally he is right; but that is neither here nor there.

He wears the old hat until the brim drops off and the hair sticks thru, which happens about the first of December. As all the other old hats give up the ghost at about the same time, the male population begins to assume a respectable aspect shortly before Christmas.

Don't judge any man by his hat before December 1, for it may not be his hat at all. It may be his little son's school hat or his deceased uncle's.

Uncle Terwilliger says: "Old H. Perkins of our town is disconsolate and refuses to be comforted. He got his wife's life insured for $25,000 and paid the premium five years in advance, and now the astronomer says the world is coming to an end in 1921."

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT TODAY

This day is fairly lucky. Sharp cold weather following a long drawn-out autumn is predicted.

Again the stars warn of much illness.

A complete change in the membership of Congress will be a feature of the Fall elections.

Important actions should be delayed until a more favorable tide.

Persons whose birthday is will have an active year.

Children born on this day will be quick and successful.

YOUR NAME

BY PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN
VARIATIONS—Christie (Christison, Christoffer, Kils, Kils, Kilsen, Christian).

RACIAL ORIGIN—English, also Scandinavian and North German.

SOURCE—A Given Name.

The explanation which at once offers itself of the family name of Crist is that it is simply another spelling of "Christ." But this does not explain its existence, in many of its variations, in such widespread fashion as we find it today.

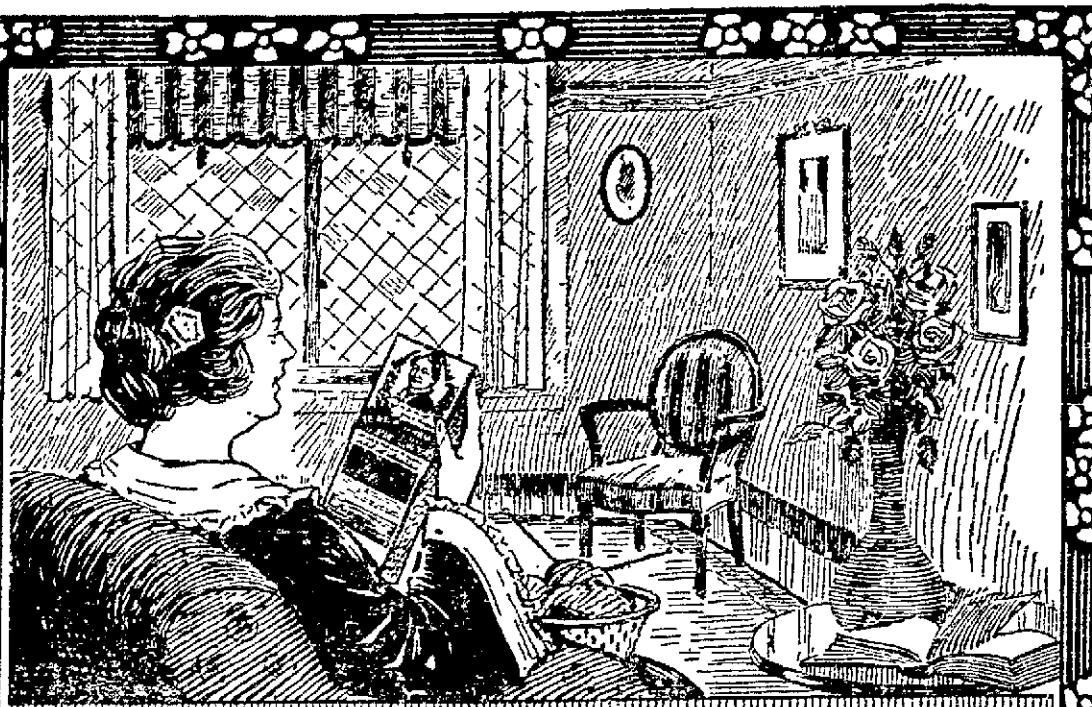

Presumably there was a time when the fact that a man was a Christian instead of a pagan was sufficient to differentiate him from others of the same given name, and it was natural to call a man "Ulric the Christian" to distinguish him from other Ulrics who were not. But this was many centuries before such descriptive names became stabilized into family names. By the time family names were in formation the whole civilized world had become Christian; hence the word ceased to be distinctive.

What really happened was this: The name of Christ first became the basis of certain given names, which have persisted even to this day and the family names were formed from those. One of these names was Christian and the other Christoffer, or Christopher. The family name would first appear descriptive of the individual's parentage, as "John Christian-son" or "Pete Christoffer-son." But given names also were abbreviated, and both Christian and Christoffer were often met in the forms "Crist" or "Kit," from which we get such family names as "Christiesen" and "Kilsen," often shortened in the course of time to Kils, Christie or Crist. The given name of Christian was widespread among the Scandinavians, and is unusually common on the east coast of England where even in olden times the people were in close touch with the Danes and traded with the folk of the north German countries. No doubt many of these family names found in this country today have been brought directly from the Continent, and are not English.

Women of Middle Age

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change in her life without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, smothering spells, fainting spells, nervous troubles and irregularities are symptoms that should have prompt attention. These two letters prove what a successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women at this time of life.

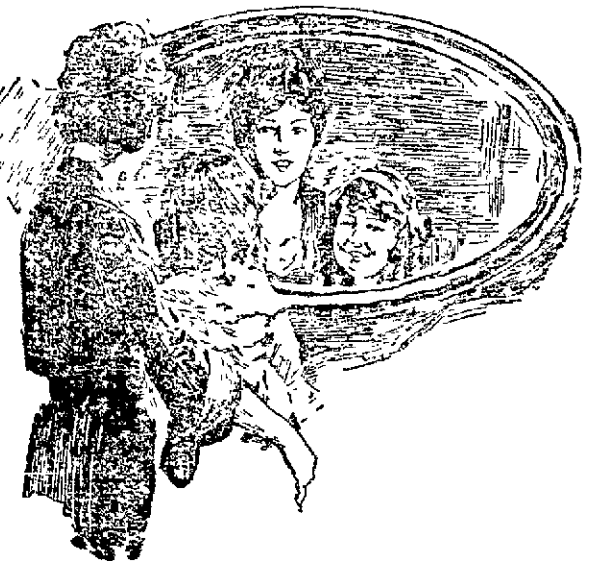

These Two Women Helped During Change of Life.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for it."—Mrs. SUSAN C. STAPLES, 157 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I want to let you know what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I had organic troubles and am going through the Change of Life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not eat or sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good at all—my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise anyone going through the Change of Life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hopes of getting better. I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me."—Mrs. MARGARET DANZ, 743 N. 25th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

All statements approved by authorities

This ten-day test costs nothing. To millions it has brought a new era in dental health. This is to urge that you try this method. Then let your own teeth show you what it means to you and yours.

To fight the film

The object is to fight the film which causes most tooth troubles. Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The old methods brushing do not end it. So, despite all care, tooth troubles have been constantly increasing.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. And nearly all teeth brushed in old ways are coated more or less.

Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. And that disease has become alarming in extent.

Pepsodent
PAT. OFF.
REG. U.S.
The New-Day Dentifrice

A scientific film combatant, combined with two other modern requisites. Now advised for daily use by leading dentists everywhere. Supplied by druggists in large tubes.

A daily combatant

Dental science has now found ways to daily combat this film. For five years the methods have been carefully watched and proved. Now leading dentists everywhere advise them.

These methods are embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Millions now know it and employ it. Wherever you look the results are seen in glistening teeth today.

Acts in five ways

One ingredient in Pepsodent is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to digest starch deposits that cling. The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors direct y attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so gly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

With every application, Pepsodent combats the teeth's great enemies in new and efficient ways. To millions it is bringing cleaner, safer, whiter teeth. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

This test will be a revelation. Make it now. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

POLITICAL TRICK IS EXPOSED

Foreign Ministers Spread Untruth About W. A. Julian

With 500 people assembled in the Armory at Spencerville Monday afternoon, to hear addresses by Democratic orators, Senator T. M. Berry, chairman of the assembly, called attention to the low political trickery that is being resorted to by the Republican leaders, who are charged with sending out foreign ministers who speak from the pulpits of churches in towns they visit and make the statement that W. A. Julian has withdrawn from the race for United States Senator.

"You see he is here today speaking in the interest of the Democratic cause," said Senator Berry. "He is a candidate for United States Senator and he hasn't withdrawn. Furthermore, the foreign ministers who visited Spencerville recently and stated from the pulpits of Spencerville churches that Mr. Julian had withdrawn, knew when they said it that it was not true. It is only a political trick."

Reports received indicate that the same tactics are being employed in other localities.

COLUMBUS DAY WAS OBSERVED TUESDAY

Heretofore Washington's Birthday, Decoration Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years were the only legal holidays in the state of Ohio.

Lima banks were closed all day Tuesday, as were also public offices and many private offices and concerns. Students of the three vocational schools and high schools were dismissed Tuesday, in honor of the holiday.

tween 5 and 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The escaping gas was ignited and linemen were unable to make repairs until 9 o'clock.

President Emmett R. Curtin of the gas company explained that a four inch line run on top of the ground was being used at the point where the main line was being repaired, to carry the supply. This line buckled, he said, due to the fact that while gas was not being used the pressure became more than the line could stand without being weighted down.

SMART WRAP FOR FOOTBALL DAYS

By LOUISE

With smart new coats and fashion wraps the center of attraction, one is very likely to forget that winter has some attractive sports togs as well as summer. One does not need to wait for the skating season either to see smart sports clothes. There are autumn hives and picnic, football games and motor trips, all of which demand sports clothes of some kind. Taped suits and skirts with sweaters and polo coats are very smart. Knitted scarfs and hats and tailored shorts also belong in the fall sport wardrobe.

Here is a very unusual coat which the college miss will "just love." It is just the thing for keeping out the chill breezes at football games this fall and will be smart for wear at the country club. It is a knitted wrap of orange with white checks forming a border and white stole collar striped in orange and cuffs to match as trimming—a loud and snappy combination which will appeal to youth. The coat is made on the fashionable new wrapy lines and is good for motor wear as well as street wear.

Mrs. William E. Crayton talked to the members of the Union club on Citizenship, at their meeting Monday afternoon, held at the home of Mrs. J. P. Bowman, S. Jameson-ave. Mrs. E. C. Akerman, Mrs. Eckles, Texas, Mrs. Donald Keith, and Mrs. M. Keith, were guests of the club.

The next meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. Stewart, N. McDonel-st.

SUSIE SMART SAYS

Dear Miss Smart: When a person is giving a party, is it proper for the hostess to take the guests' wraps and put them away, or for the guests to put their own wraps away?

Ans. It is customary for the hostess to direct her guests upstairs where they may take off their wraps. If, however, she does not wish them to go upstairs, she must take them up herself.

Dear Susie: I am 21 years old but still need advice. Last week I lost my pocketbook, containing money, receipts, etc. A middle aged man, a stranger to me, found it, and called me on the phone, telling me I could have it by calling at his office. Was it necessary, or would it have been more proper for me to offer the man a reward?

THANK YOU

Ans. It is pretty certain that the gentleman would not have accepted a reward anyway, so it doesn't make much difference whether you offered one or not. It is customary, however, to offer one.

Dear Miss Smart: Please answer the following questions. 1. What will keep the hair from getting oily? 2. Will wide brimmed hats be worn this winter? Thanking you very much.

PEGGY

1. Frequent shampooing will keep the hair from becoming oily. Dry shampoos are often used, but it is next to impossible to brush the hair entirely free from whatever you use. Use a shampoo that is designed to correct excess oil in the hair. Any druggist can recommend a good one. 2. The small sport hats are very popular this winter, but wide-brimmed hats will be worn on dressy occasions. Your one question requires a personal reply. Address me a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young woman twenty-seven years old, have been married ten years and have four children, the oldest of whom is nine years old. My mother says that I being the mother of four children dress too much like a girl of eighteen. I wear my dresses at snoot-top length, and dress my hair in the prevailing fashion, which is very becoming. I have a girl friend, just my age but unmarried, who dresses the same way, but mother thinks it quite proper for her. Please tell me what you think. Even my husband says I don't look any older than when we were married, but it pleases him to have me look like a girl.

Is it improper for me to go to the movies alone? When there is a show I especially want to see, I go one night and my husband the next, on account of the children. I go alone for if I invite a friend I feel as tho I must pay the expenses, which cannot afford. I never thought anything of it until a couple of old gossips told me that they would stay at home forever before going alone. I really enjoy a show more if I go alone, as I can sit where I please and do not have to listen to any remarks.

CENSURED.

Ans: You show exceedingly good taste in not allowing yourself to grow old, altho you are the mother of four children. You do not wear your dresses too short and if your hair is becoming worn in the prevailing mode, wear it that way. Your mother should not criticize you for trying to keep young. As for going to the movies alone, if that is the only way you and your husband can manage it, don't pay any attention to some old fossils who have nothing to do but gossip.

Dear Miss Smart: Please tell me if it is legal to be married in Kentucky before you are eighteen?

LUCILLE.

Ans: Yes, marriages are legal in the state of Kentucky, even tho the contracting parties are not yet eighteen years of age.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a girl

fourteen years of age. I have been told that I am nice looking. Do you think it is all right for me to go with a boy fifteen years of age to a movie? I take him just as a friend. My mother doesn't care if I go with him just as a friend. But he has asked me different times to kiss him at which I refused.

MOTHER'S GIRL.

You are too young to go to the movie with a boy. You can see that he does not regard you just as a friend or he would not have asked to kiss you.

Dear Miss Smart: I hear you have a remedy for taking off a moustache. Will you please let me know what it is and if you have it let me know the price?

MISS A. C.

I have no such remedy. The only safe way to remove superfluous hair from the face is by means of the electric needle. When the electric needle is used, the roots are destroyed and the hair does not come back. Applications which remove the hair only increase the growth and coarseness of it.

THE PALACE OF DARKENED WINDOWS

BY MARY HASTINGS BRADLEY

It had been night in the palace of darkened windows but in the garden it was yet day, though the rose and gold of sunset had faded to pinks and translucent ambers and in the east the stars were shining in the deepening blue. It was the same garden over which her windows opened; Arlee recognized the huge lebbek tree in the center, the row of acacias, and the palms against the farthest wall. It was a very old garden. Those trees must have been many, many years, she thought, and felt again that sense of vague oppression and melancholy which the lonely rooms of the palace had given her; that row of acacias which cast sun-drooped shadows over the path had been planted by a very long-age hands.

So she thought fleetingly, then started about her concern for other things, over his cupped hands his eyes followed hers searchingly.

"That is the bell of banquets?" she said, pointing to the raised colonnade.

"Ah, yes—you are quick to learn!" he complimented.

"And could we walk thru that into the courtyard?"

"Undoubtedly."

"And this side is the haremlik," she murmured, glancing up at the windows upon the third floor which she felt were those of the rose and white room. Much of the rose of the wing, she saw, extending down to the high wall at right angles to it, was in a ruinous and dilapidated condition. "What is there?" she asked.

"The rooms the Khedive Ismail left unfinished. They are of no use."

"And the other side is the palace of another man, and on the other side of that, ending the road is a cemetery—what you say, cemetery?"

"And back of that wall?" she nodded at the one behind the palms, running parallel to the banquet hall.

"Back of that a canal, Mademoiselle, and across are other palaces."

"You study the geography, it appears?"

"Indeed I do!" She turned towards him, her face bright with eagerness. Her light curls were blown about her forehead by a breeze, hot and dry, that seemed to mingle the odors of the desert with a piercing sweetness which drew from the deep throats of the lilacs swarming beside the path. "And I think that is going to be the way out for me."

Her quick nod was for the wall behind the palms. "I want you to do me a great big favor, Captain Korissu, that will make me your debtor for life! You must help me break out of this quarantine this very night!"

Not the ghost of a fear of failure to persuade him lurked in those bright, dancing eyes. Not the ghost of a fear of failure haunted those confident, smiling lips.

He sucked on his cigarette a moment then slowly blew a thin ring of blue smoke. He appeared interested in watching it.

"What is it—this idea?" he murmured.

"Well, you may have a better one but mine is just to climb that wall, as simple as it gets dark. If you just get a ladder, or a pile of chairs I am sure I can manage it—and then I'll be back at the hotel in an hour!"

He took out his cigarette and shook his head at her. "You would chop, like the plum of Haydee, into the air of the soldier who is standing on the other side."

"I tell you the story of that night."

"A soldier guarding—a native?"

"Then—then please won't you see if you can let me in?" she pleaded, clasping her hands.

"Please, Captain Korissu, you must help me to run away tonight. I can't be shut up like this—I can't give up the trip and besides—Oh, I really must be back at the hotel tonight. If that soldier is sure no one else will see him I know you can persuade him to look away just a little minute while I slip down and run off!"

"Ah, no, no, my dear Miss Beecher, there is no hope of that." The young man started walking down the path and Arlee walked beside him, her eyes fixed on his face, incredulous of the denial that they were reading there.

"He would think it a test, a trap—not for one minute as it is to be thought of! Now, come! I let you go alone in that place by the canal. There is danger—you do not understand."

"Oh, I understand, but I can take care of myself!" Across her pleading flashed the ironic thought of how excellently she had taken care of herself in coming there that very afternoon! "Just let me get over that wall and I can find my way—and if you cannot bribe the man we can wait till it is darker and then, when he is at the other end, why I can be down and off in a jiffy!"

"He would shoot," said the Captain. "He has his order. I have talked with them. And what would the authorities say when they send here the doctor to-morrow and you are gone?"

"Say—say—Oh, what does it matter what they say? Tell them that I ran away without your knowledge. Surely—"

"But your name has been given as detained. They would not let you reappear in the world!"

"You leave that to me! I know it would be all right—once I was there. Please do this for me, Captain Korissu—please! I know that in a great palace like this there must be many, many ways where one could slip into the street."

"In all this palace there are but three doors—the door in the vestibule by which you entered, the great door to its right, under the arch into the courtyard, and the little door from the garden to the canal." He waved his cigarette at the wall ahead of them, towards which they were slowly walking. "And all those three doors are barred upon the outside and there is a soldier before each one—and the soldier that you saw within the vestibule, watching us there."

"But—but the windows." She remembered the mashrubiyeh, but went on resolutely. "I mean, the windows on the men's side. Aren't there any windows in that part which are open?"

"The shamlik is a short wing and looks into the courtyard. A note of impatience sounded in his voice. He tore away his cigarette, which fell, a bright spark, in the shadows. Already, as they talked, it had grown darker, and the impatient, ironic light was stealing on them. "It is no use," he repeated. "There is no way out for you—or any of us."

Into her heart stole the unthinking perception that he did not want to help her—he was afraid of the authorities—or else—for else—hesitantly she returned to the appeal.

"But do let me try to get over that wall. I will wait for the soldier—I will take the responsibility. Please, now—let us plan that attempt."

His answer held a quiet finality. "It is impossible. . . . And the wall is too high for such little feet."

The startled color flashed into her cheeks. Only Oriental language of course. . . . Perhaps she was unduly sensitive to any hint of familiarity in her predicament.

"I could manage it perfectly," she said with coldness.

He bent over her, as they walked. "Are you so unhappy here?"

"Of course, I am unhappy," she gave back with a clear matter-of-factness that strove to ignore the sudden softening of his voice. "I am very unhappy. I realize that I should not be here, that I am intruding upon your hospitality."

"You are making me most happy." "And I am making my friends most anxious and losing my trip on the Nile."

"The Nile," he said "flows on forever. Who knows how soon you will see it under what happier circumstances?"

"Our boat was to sail at ten. I simply must find a way out tonight."

"That is impossible." He spoke with sudden irritation, which he softened the next instant, with a light laugh. You Americans—how you hurry! Tell me—have you no heart for all this?"

She looked about her at the silent garden, the deepening shadows, the darkening sky. Above her head, now high in the air were the faintly rustling palm leaves. Behind the palms stretched the wall, high and blankly impassable. She felt strange, unreal. . . . Her very fright was unreal.

"You study the geography, it appears?"

"Indeed I do!" She turned towards him, her face bright with eagerness. Her light curls were blown about her forehead by a breeze, hot and dry, that seemed to mingle the odors of the desert with a piercing sweetness which drew from the deep throats of the lilacs swarming beside the path. "And I think that is going to be the way out for me."

Her quick nod was for the wall behind the palms. "I want you to do me a great big favor, Captain Korissu, that will make me your debtor for life! You must help me break out of this quarantine this very night!"

Not the ghost of a fear of failure to persuade him lurked in those bright, dancing eyes. Not the ghost of a fear of failure haunted those confident, smiling lips.

He sucked on his cigarette a moment then slowly blew a thin ring of blue smoke. He appeared interested in watching it.

"What is it—this idea?" he murmured.

"Well, you may have a better one but mine is just to climb that wall, as simple as it gets dark. If you just get a ladder, or a pile of chairs I am sure I can manage it—and then I'll be back at the hotel in an hour!"

He took out his cigarette and shook his head at her. "You would chop, like the plum of Haydee, into the air of the soldier who is standing on the other side."

"I tell you the story of that night."

"A soldier guarding—a native?"

"Then—then please won't you see if you can let me in?" she pleaded, clasping her hands.

"Please, Captain Korissu, you must help me to run away tonight. I can't be shut up like this—I can't give up the trip and besides—Oh, I really must be back at the hotel tonight. If that soldier is sure no one else will see him I know you can persuade him to look away just a little minute while I slip down and run off!"

"Ah, no, no, my dear Miss Beecher, there is no hope of that." The young man started walking down the path and Arlee walked beside him, her eyes fixed on his face, incredulous of the denial that they were reading there.

INDIANS TO WAGE BITTER BATTLE TODAY FOR TITLE

IF THEY WIN THEY'LL BE CHAMPIONS OF WORLD—CARPENTIER MEETS BATTLING LEVINSKY TONIGHT IN NEW JERSEY

DODGERS SAY WORLD SERIES ARE NOT COPPED YET

CLEVELAND.—The battered and bruised Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cleveland Indians, thrice victorious over their national league rivals in as many days, were ready to face each other today in the seventh game for the baseball championship of all hemispheres with the easterners determined to force the annual classic into further games and the westerners confident that after today, there would be no more world series contests until 1921.

With the world's championship possibly depending on today's game, Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Indians, and Manager Tris Speaker, of the Indians were in heated talk in the day as to what hurlers they would select, but indications were that "Rube" Marquard would face the sluggers of the junior circuit, and that Stanley Coveleski would be given the task of carrying Cleveland thru to a world's championship in seven games.

COVEY OR CHILL

Coveleski, twice conqueror of the Flatbush players in the present series, begged Manager Speaker to send him to the mound, but George Hie, side-arm hurler, who needed his first training on the can, lured of Cleveland, also yearned for a change in the big battle, and Speaker with only one game in three needed, listened attentively to the youngster's plea. Final decision would not be made, however, until just before the game, he said.

Robinson also indicated that he might change his selection before game time, intimating that Burleigh Grimes, who shut out Cleveland in the second game, but was knocked out of the box Sunday, might be given another chance. The probability, however, was that Marquard would be the final choice, primarily because the Indians are considered rather weak against left handed hurlers—a belief testified to by the splendid games Sherrill Smith has hurled against the American leaguers.

Speaker felt that he had the edge on Brooklyn in the pitching. Even should Coveleski lose today, he still had Bagby to fall back on with Hie and Morton in reserve, and Mails ready to go in again if necessary. The latter, a youngster and weighing close to 200 pounds, could easily work again, Speaker said.

Brooklyn, however, has not a pitcher who has not been pounded by Cleveland. Grimes, Marquard, Smith, Marmann, Cadore and Pfeffer have either lost games or been hit hard. The national leaguers, who came into the series with a pitching staff famous for its ace, today were handicapped for hurlers, according to Speaker's view.

SAYS SERIES OVER
"Today's game will be the last," he said. "We are not going back to Brooklyn for any more games because it won't be necessary. When the last out is made this afternoon, the series will be finished."

The manager's statement convinced Cleveland that Coveleski would be the choice despite the fact that the pitcher has pitched two hard games and has had only two days' rest. But the home folks were ready to give their townsman, Hie, all the support a baseball crazy mob. of more than 25,000 can give.

THEY WON'T GIVE UP

In the Brooklyn camp there was a different tale. With Manager Robinson and Captain Zack Wheat everything possible to straighten out the frayed plumage, the players were ready to meet the Indians on their own ground, and were absolutely certain that tonight both clubs would be journeying eastward for a final set-to on the Dodgers' home soil. The terrific hitting when slugging was needed the fine fielding when pitchers wobbled and the deceiving array of curves thrown by the hurlers when fielding was poor, which have brought three straight contests to the local crew, apparently meant nothing to the Dodgers.

"We've got to have this game and when we have something we usually get it," said Manager Robinson today and his remark echoed the spirit of the entire team.

Facing the prospect of not seeing another game for at least a year, Cleveland fans again were out hours before the game forming a long line at the bleacher gates. The watchful waiters, however, lacked some of the enthusiasm which characterized their presence on previous nights.

Apparently they were out because they considered it their duty to see Cleveland win a world's championship for every man in line seemed to feel that the series practically ended.

FAST NAGS ON RACING CARD FOR TODAY

LEXINGTON, Ky. — The Castleton, a $3,000 event for 2-year-olds, features the Grand Circuit program Tuesday. The presence of the fast Peter Manning makes it appear as if the race would not be close, but there are five good horses in the field.

Laetitia Bingen, that took a time record of 2:03 3/4 the past week, will make her racing debut in this event and will be watched with interest. The others are Compt, 2:05 1/4; Peter Coley, 2:04 3/4; Hollywood Nymph, 2:07, and Tommy Todd, 2:06 3/4.

COMMIT IN TWO EVENTS

Fred Edman is going to put on the rather unusual stunt of starting one horse twice in the same afternoon. The animal in question is the game little chestnut mare Comit, which will go in the 2:08 trot and the Castleton. Murphy did this a few years ago with Sweet Spirit, winning one race and taking second money in the other. Others in the 2:08 trot are Wiki Wiki, Viney Bligen, Dottie Day, Ted Russell, Millie Irwin, Belgie, Red Bon and Urban Brooke.

The Tennessee for 2-year-old pacers, in which Frisco June, 2:03 1/4, Trampas, 2:04 1/4, Rifle Grenade, 2:04 1/4, and Raven Direct's heir are to start is the secondary feature. The closing race is the second division of the 2:12 trot, in which are Crex, Midgett, Midgett-lion, Blitzie Wagner and Dorothy Day.

HUME DEFEATS DELPHOS

Hume took Delphos into camp Sunday by the score of five to two. The feature of the game was a three-base hit by Snydman who also pitched a three-hit game and credited with 15 strike-outs. Hume meets Backland nine on their grounds next Sunday.

MAN-O-WAR RACES SIR BARTON TODAY

WINDSOR, Ont.—(By United Press)—The two aces in the sport of kings, met here Tuesday to decide which is trumper. Man O'War the champion three-year-old and Sir Barton, four-year-old star will race at Kenilworth track for the largest purse ever offered for a horse race in any country—$75,000 and a $5,000 gold cup to the winner, and nothing to the loser.

The race ranks in interest with the great equine duels of history. Man O'War was favored in the betting, due to his wonderful record and the fact that Sir Barton will be carrying 126 pounds to Man O'War's 120.

DETERMINES CHAMPS
The meeting of the champions at a mile and a quarter will really determine the thoroughbred championship in America. Exterminator, the only other horse which ranks with the two entries, showed best at a greater distance.

The two horses will go to the post in the fourth race. The races will start at 1:30 o'clock, which will bring the fourth race up between 2 and 3:30 o'clock eastern standard time.

A third entry in the race will be Wickford, 126 pounds up. A great crowd started flocking toward the track at dawn Tuesday for the race. Alto arrangements were made to accommodate many thousands, the crowds in Windsor and Detroit hotels Monday night indicated the track would not be able to care for all who wished to see the race.

BOTH KENTUCKY BRED
Both horses were bred in Kentucky. Man O'War, by Fair Play-Mahuba, was unbeaten in nine starts as a three-year-old. He lost only one in nine starts as a two-year-old, and that was due to a bad ride. He holds three American and two world records for a mile or more. His earnings last season were $89,000.

He is owned by the Canadian sportsman J. K. L. Ross, of Montreal. Clarence Kummer, who has ridden Man O'War in all his three-year-old races except two when he was injured, will have a leg upon the champion. Earl Sande, contract jockey with the Ross stable, will pilot Sir Barton.

JOCKEY GETS $5,000
The winning jockey will receive a special reward of $5,000 from the owner.

Huge sums were wagered on the result, the odds most quoted being 5 to 1 with Man O'War picked to win. Indications early Tuesday were the race would be won on a fast track. A heavy fog had settled over the park during the night, but at 8 o'clock indications were that it would clear. No rain has fallen here for some time.

RECRUIT PITCHER FOR INDIANS HURLS GOOD GAME; SWIFT BALLS

Walter Mails, who was recruited by Cleveland a short time ago from a Pacific coast league, proved his worth to the Indians Monday when he shut Brooklyn out of the sixth game of the World Series with no runs and only three hits.

His tricky curves were too much for the Robins who slugged wildly at his balls as they crashed across the plate.

CENTRAL HI TO MEET FINDLAY SATURDAY ON LOCAL FIELD

BALL PLAYERS HARD HIT BY N. Y. TAX LAW

NEW YORK—The long arm of the law in New York state will reach out for taxes due about 125 ball players sharing in the receipts of the world's series.

Under the terms of the recently enacted income tax law in this state, not only will the players who live within the state be taxed on their share of the receipts of world's series games played here, but those who reside in other states as well.

The law affects not only the Cleveland and Brooklyn players, but the runners up and third teams in each league—Chicago and New York in the American and New York and Cincinnati in the National.

John E. Brece, secretary of the national commission, has assured Mark Graves, director of the state tax bureau, of his co-operation in furnishing information regarding payments covering the games played in the state.

The non-resident, it was explained today, are taxable because they rendered "personal services" in New York. The national commission will take out from the checks to non-residents an amount sufficient to pay the tax, whenever their shares are greater than the exemption allowed by the law.

ORPHEUM BILL IS ENTERTAINING

Program Made Up of Mostly Good Acts

WIRE PERFORMANCE GIVEN

"Behind the Grandstand" Surprise—News of Theaters

BY ESTHER WAGNER

WIDELY diversified is the program being given at the Orpheum theatre the first of this week and is, in the main, a pretty good bill, which gets a flying start by a novelty wire act, presented by Stanley and Wilburn. Besides great agility on the slack wire, the principal performer demonstrates his remarkable powers of endurance and splendid work.

Barnett Hlatt has one of the most humorous acts in the group, and presents the best "single" act seen here in weeks. His jokes and sayings are good; so are his songs.

A little comedy skit entitled "Oh Doctor" is fair entertainment. The principals, Bobby and Earl, have a little bit of everything, songs, dances, witticisms, but mostly the inevitable political-slam jokes, which, however, always get a laugh from the audience.

Weber and Elliott have a mighty good act, one that starts off at a fast clip and keeps the audience roaring from start to finish. Acts like this one are few and far between.

The Bradnas, hat throwers and jugglers, have some nonsense mixed up with their act, and, as a whole, offer good stunts.

The grand surprise of the program, however, is put on by The Sharrocks, in "Behind the Grandstand." This is a B. F. Keith attraction, and declared to be the most costly attraction brought to the Orpheum this year.

It's a burlesque of Gipsy mind-reading at a county fair, mental telepathy, thought transmutation and all, but mostly laughter and fun.

Anything you have in your pocket, anything you have on, the gifted Miss Sharrock can describe, and all with her eyes blindfolded. Nothing can fool her, either. To Emma and Harry Sharrock is given the most applause and without a doubt, they are worth it.

To see is to believe, you know

Successful Hay Fever Preventive

In Scotland just before Hay Fever time comes round, people start at once to breathe air which they purify themselves by a very simple method.

One of Scotland's learned doctors discovered it, prescribed it and soon its power to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes of the nose and throat in all cases of Hay Fever, Ross Colds, Common Colds and Catarth was heralded all over Scotland.

Recently the formula of this successful prescription reached America, and now the better pharmacies are dispensing it under the name of "HAELANOL" and it's so easy and simple to use, so acutely penetrating that a few breathes will open up clogged nostrils and soothe and heal the sore, inflamed membrane. MUTT AND JEFF—RIGHTO! THIS WAS AN ILL WIND FOR AUGUSTUS MUTT—

By BUD FISHER

BRINGING UP FATHER.

By McMANUS

SHORT SHAVINGS

Hould I loyal seldom fails to find an interesting yarn among the may of cities that are a part of the big studio

"At all men of mine is the first of a colored man."

First he took a razor which at last he took the two blades out of the two blades.

Why don't you get a divorce? I should in all seriousness.

As you know, as quick as a flash, as quick as a flash, as quick as a flash.

The first new colonel had summed up his duties to him after the regiment had mistakenly gone through the intricacies of a formal guard mount.

"Captain," he began pompously, "I was not at all pleased with your mount this morning."

Why, sir— began the surprised adjutant, who had thought he was not so prominently well as

"That will be all, captain. As I said, I was not at all pleased with your mount this morning."

As you know, there must be uniformity in an army to differentiate it from a mob. This morning there was a noticeable lack of uniformity, especially in the band.

"You will immediately inform the band leader, captain, that he will instruct the trombone players to work the slides of their instruments back and forth in unison. Sir, I will have uniformity in my regiment."

They stood in the London zoological gardens puzzled before a bird.

"It's a heagle," said one. "It's not; it's a howl," said the other.

They appealed to a bystander. "Both wrong," he said. "It's an owl."

If Brunswick Phonograph prices are lowered we will refund the purchaser the difference.
